

SUMMER BY THE SEA

An aerial photograph of a coastal city, likely San Juan, Puerto Rico. In the foreground, a golf course with several green fairways and sand traps is visible. The middle ground shows a dense urban area with numerous multi-story buildings and residential structures. In the background, a large, rugged mountain rises above the city, partially shrouded in mist or low clouds. The overall scene is captured from a high vantage point, looking down over the city towards the sea.
